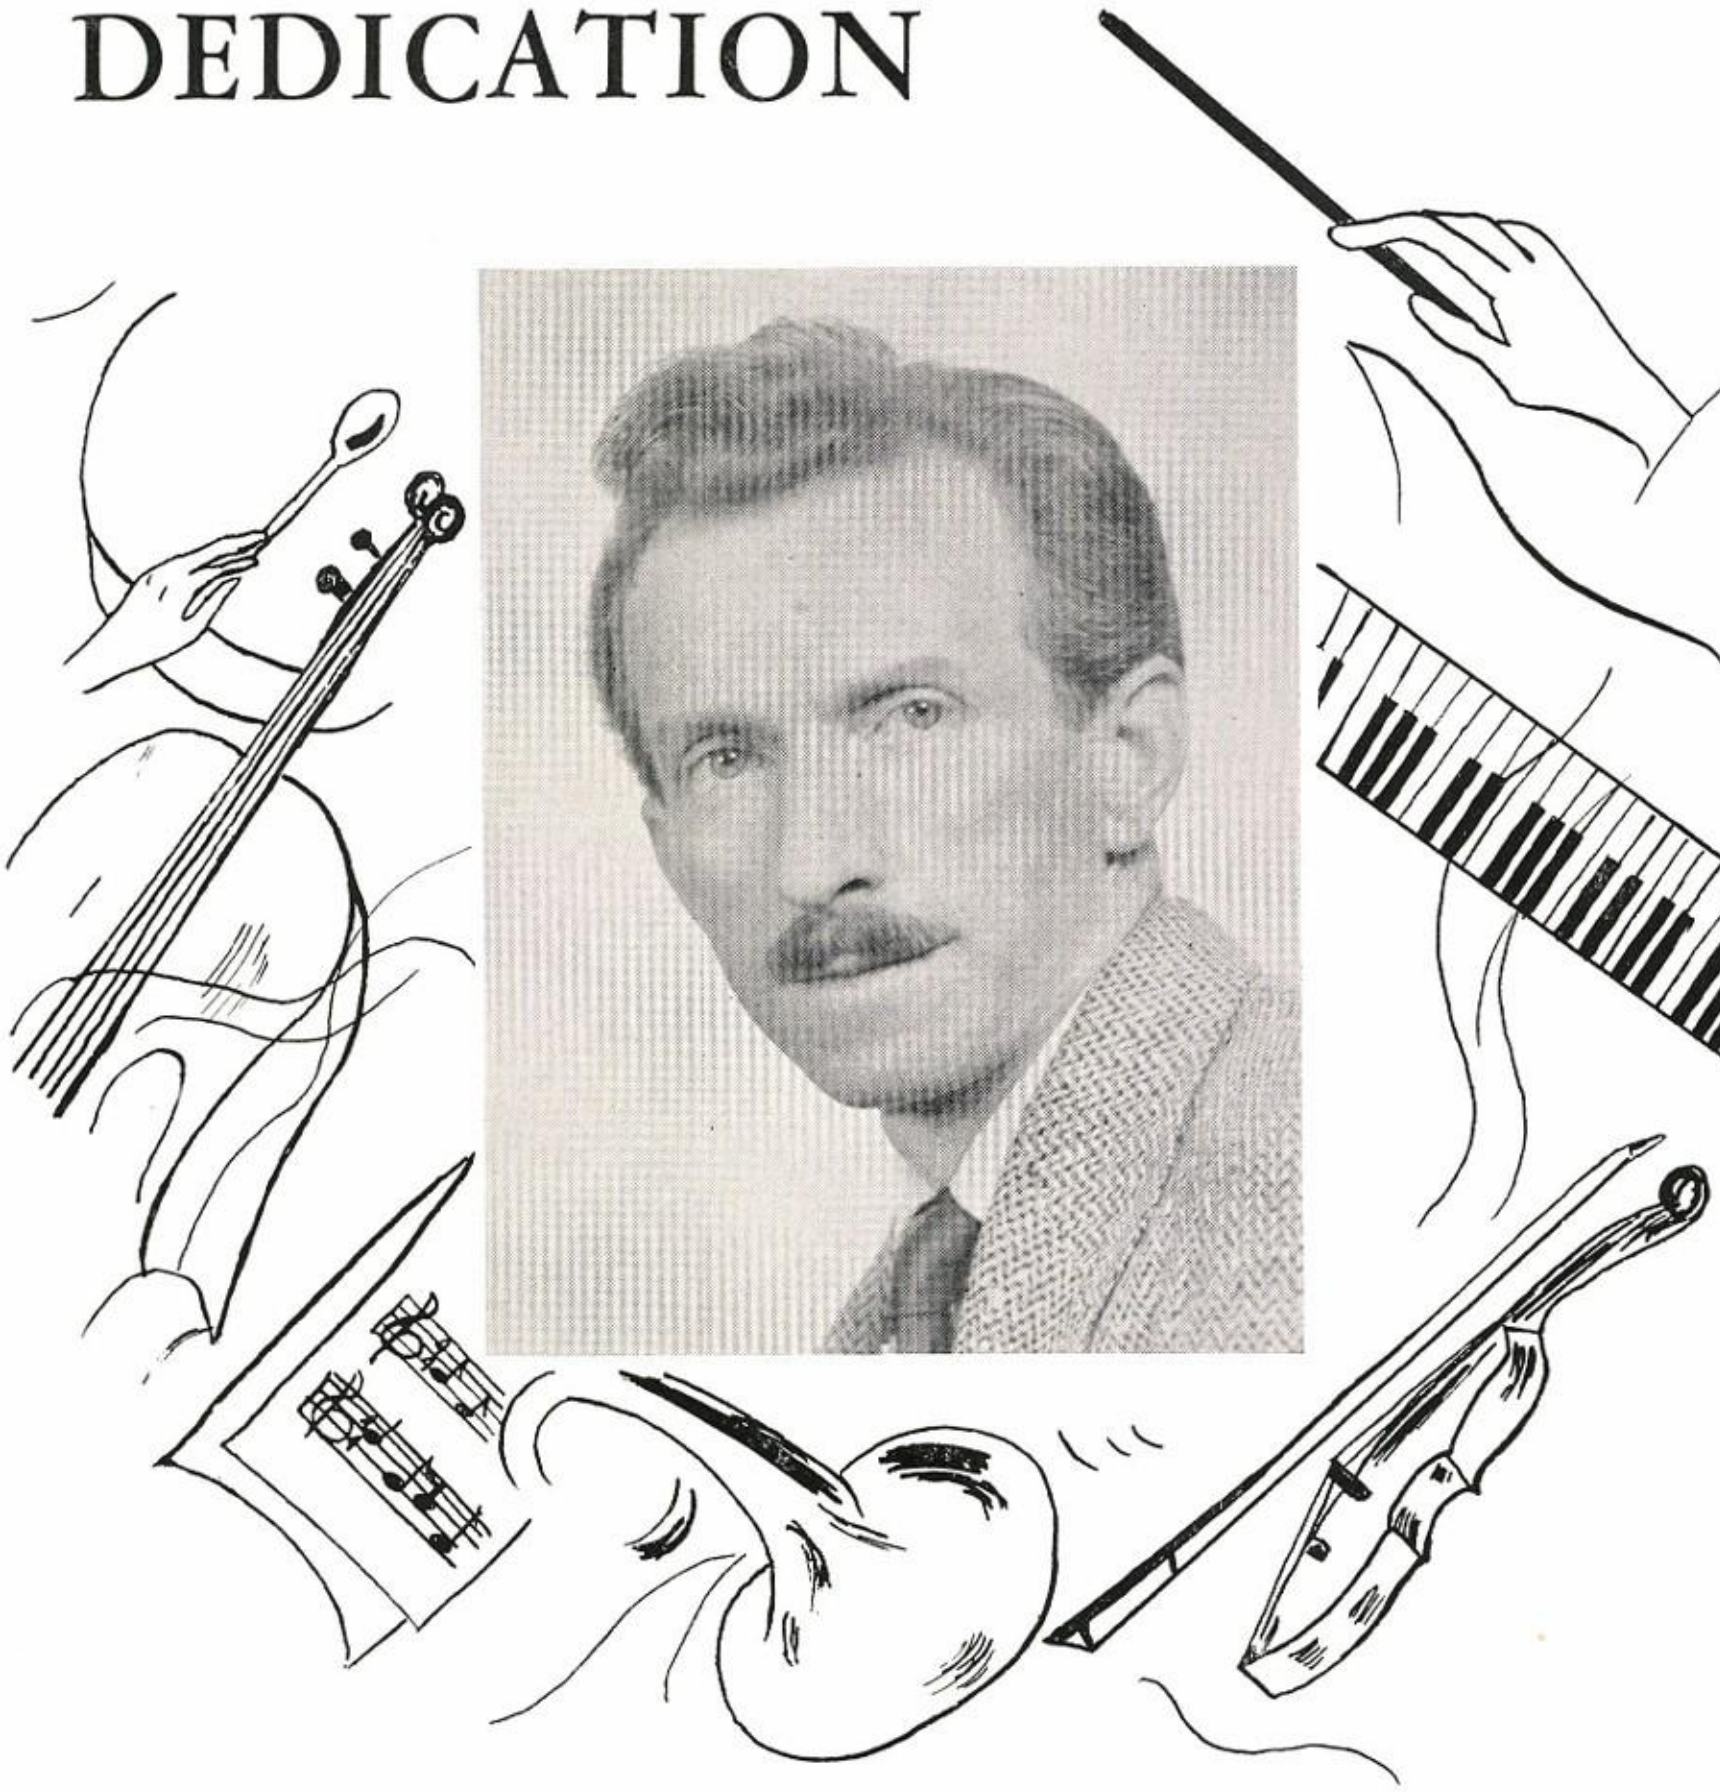
FOREWORD

We, the Seniors of 1950, are going into a troubled and a challenging world. We are entering a new half century in which new horizons will be opened and new worlds will be discovered. The need for educated young men and women will be the greatest in our history. Let us hope that the solid foundation which we have received in the classrooms of S. H. S. may be the basis for our education in the great school of life.

As a record of our Senior year, we publish this Unaliyi. As you page through it, try to relive with us the scenes which are before you, and in so doing, you may better understand us and the activities in which we participated during our brief reign as Seniors.

DEDICATION



To Mr. Foulke who has so faithfully given of his time and counsel in helping to solve our problems and to improve our school life, we, the Class of 1950, willingly and gratefully dedicate this issue of the Unaliyi.

It was he who has worked so patiently with our band throughout the years and has developed it into an outstanding musical organization. This is our way of saying "Thank you" for the countless number of things he has done for us; for the consideration and thoughtfulness he has displayed in helping us overcome the obstacles which confronted us; for the sweet strains of music which lifted our spirits; for the many little things he did to help make our years at Souderton High School more pleasant and profitable.

It is for these reasons that we proudly dedicate this yearbook to Mr. Foulke, whose untiring efforts and friendship will never be forgotten.

Principal's Message

Here you are at last with your high school diploma and your coveted Year Book. For both, you deserve congratulations. What a train of memories will flash into your minds as you recall the joyous days of the past, the lasting friendships, the rewards of work well done, and the lessons of self-control and cooperation!

Your life now becomes much more your own charge than it has ever been before. As you approach this larger stewardship of your talents, it is the faculty's desire to see you honorably performing your duties and making a meaningful contribution to others. To accomplish this you will need everything that you have been taught plus the impelling forces of courage and faith.

Your life is important. Just as you are partly fashioned by all the influences brought to bear upon your life, so you, too, will make your impression on others wherever you go. A bit of soil is the result of every drop of rain and breeze and pressure that has ever touched it throughout the centuries. A pebble thrown into a pond affects all the water in it and sets into motion waves that touch the farthest borders. For your sake and for that of others it does matter how you live.

Our anticipations for you as you face the days ahead are bright, and you can always be assured of our continued interest, best wishes, and desire to be of help. —L. P. R.

In publishing this eleventh volume of the Unaliyi, we have tried to present a yearbook, which best summarizes our life at SHS during our senior year. The space permitted is too limited to give a complete account of all the joys and heartaches which we experienced as seniors. If our book will help you to remember us in future years, we have succeeded in accomplishing our purpose.

All of the members of the Unaliyi staffhave worked hard to present this book to you. Looking at the staff at work, one would find the editors desperately trying to find the appropriate words for their various articles; the biographers wishing they had the Longfellow touch for their short poems; the artists carefully sketching their ideas; the photographers stalking the premises of SHS to find prize snapshots; and the business staff struggling to push the sales totals higher.

Most of us being novices in the publishing field, there was a pressing need for experienced overseers. This part was capably filled by our faculty advisers, Mr. Harley and Miss Gerhart, who deserve as much credit as anyone in bringing this book to you.

Our work on the Unaliyi is completed. The finished product is in your hands to judge as you see fit. May it be a fitting memorial, as all the previous ones have been, to the graduating class of Souderton High School.

MOVIES

The students of Souderton High School are very fortunate in having a recently remodeled projection room equipped with up-to-date projectors.

The most recent and important addition to the booth is a 16 mm. Bell and Howell arc projector which makes it possible for pictures to be shown more clearly. The projector includes an amplifier which may be used as a public address system. The splendid cooperation of the entire student body in the magazine drive made possible the purchase of the new equipment. There is also a slide projector which is used for flashing announcements on the screen. To enable the operator to control the volume of sound within the booth, a monitor speaker was installed.

The school's visual aid program also provides two portable projectors powered by 1000 watt lamps for classroom use. At the present time four classrooms are equipped to show movies for instructional purposes.

The school is proud of the fact that there are three licensed operators working in the movie booth, Mr. Miller, Donald Hunsberger, and David Brady. James Seese is an apprentice. The activities of these boys cover more than their work in the projection room. They make announcements at basketball and football games, provide music for dances, and operate the P. A. system at many school functions. The valuable experience these young men are getting will aid them in choosing a career in visual education or in some closely related field.

A committee of four teachers select the movies that are shown—Mrs. Kleist, Mr. Rosenberger, Mr. Miller, and Mr. Manone. The movies shown are of three general types: vocational guidance, travelogues, and features. The school is proud of the excellent work done by the movie booth operators and is certain that their standards will be maintained.

USHERETTES

Everyone has been favorably impressed by the efficient, courteous girls who act as usherettes at all school functions. In previous years when girls were needed to usher, various students submitted their names and the necessary number was chosen. In order that this work would be done more efficiently, it was suggested that the same group serve at all functions. This year the plan was tried for the first time and fourteen Junior girls were selected.

A committee of four faculty members, Mr. Gazdick, Mr. Rosenberger, Miss Felty, and Miss Treichler, selected and instructed the girls in the proper performance of their duties. One group of girls had charge of the downstairs seating. People holding tickets for balcony seats were assisted by the other group.

The usherettes cheerfully rendered their services when school plays were given, at Open House, Baccalaureate, Class Day, and Commencement. These girls also assisted at the Southeastern District Band Concert and the Bux-Mont Band Concert.

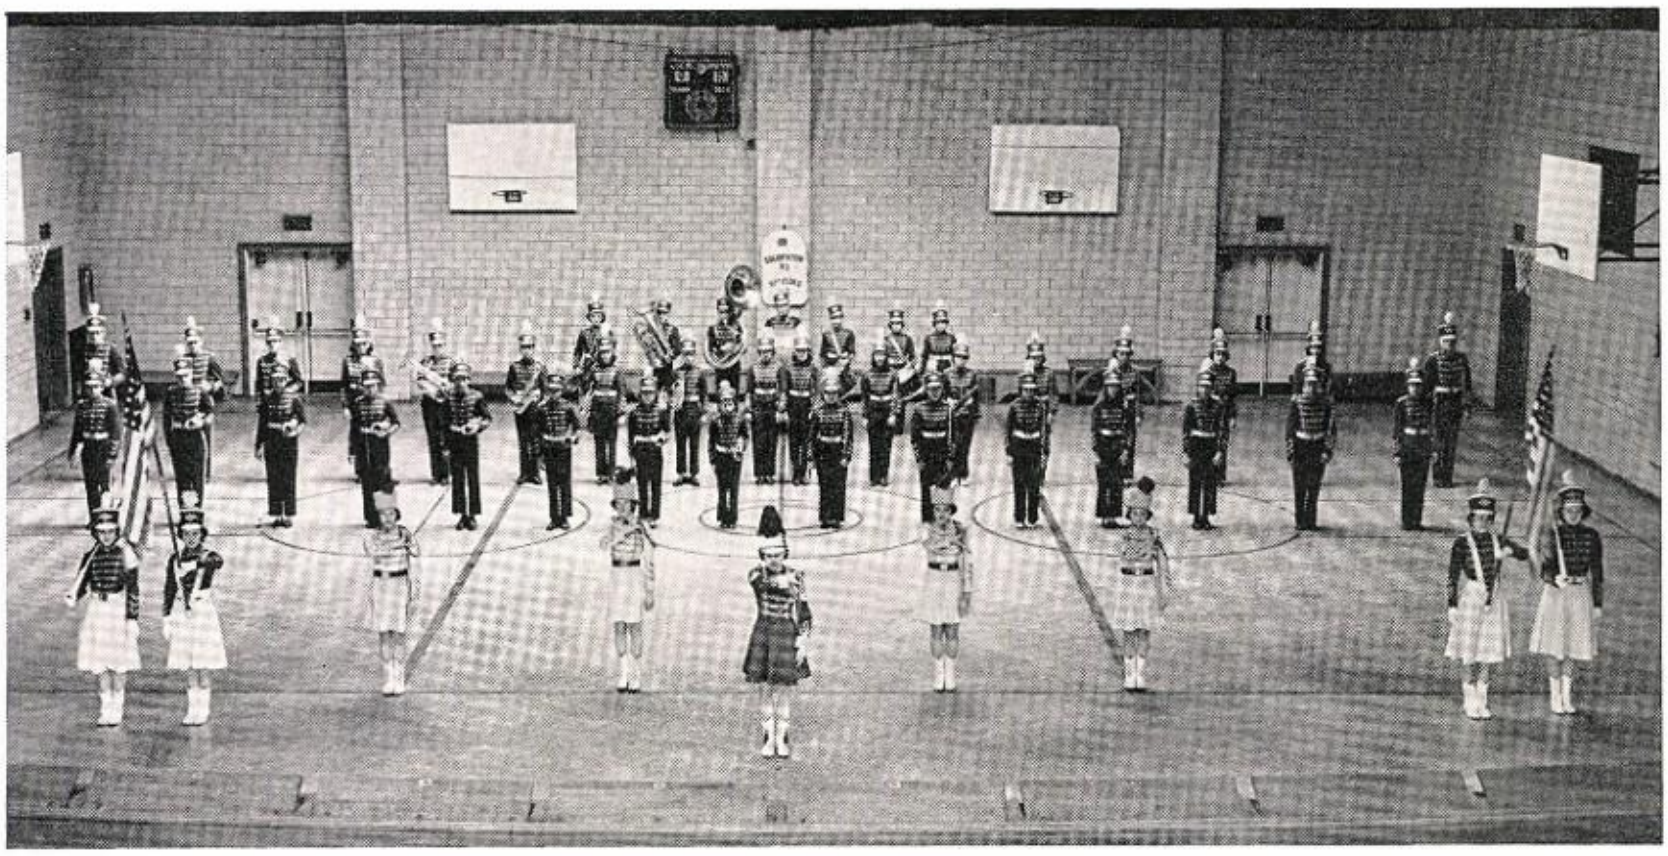
BAND

This year, for the first time, the band was made a part of the regular high school curriculum and a period each day was devoted to rehearsal. The results of this change may clearly be seen in the current S. H. S. band. This organization, after losing many graduates, was molded by the capable hands of Mr. Foulke into a top flight musical unit.

The three principal functions of the S. H. S. band are their participation at football and basketball games, and their annual concert. Each of these tasks was successfully accomplished. In addition the band, together with the chorus, presented a Christmas program which proved to be one of the highlights of the year. There were banquets and other civic affairs in which the band willingly participated.



From an individual standpoint there are additional reasons for the success of this S. H. S. band. Ten of its members represented our school in the Bux-Mont Band, six in the Southeastern District Band, and two in the All-State Band.

This organization, as well as its dynamic director, Mr. Foulke, is to be congratulated on its fine work. Participation in the band is a worthwhile experience for any student in Souderton High. We will never forget these many pleasant experiences.

CHORUS

Among the extra-curricular activities offered at S. H. S., the chorus has always been a favorite. This year the members were given an opportunity to practice and improve their technique by rehearsing four times a week under the capable direction of Mrs. Lockwood. Consequently, there was more time available in which to develop harmony, diction, and interpretation.

The chorus, together with the band, presented a very beautiful and impressive Christmas program. It also participated in the annual Spring Concert. These singers appeared at various social events in the community throughout the year and gained valuable experience. The spirit of cooperation and willingness to work, plus a keen interest in music, enabled this group to develop into an effective musical organization in S. H. S.

THE ARROW HEAD

Through "The Arrow Head," we are able to keep the public posted on school news. Each week this small section appears in the Souderton Independent, carrying the current events of student activity.

The three senior editors—Nancy Schuler, Dorothy Osterhout, and Norma Allebach—carried the responsibility of organizing and planning each week's news. The news events were assigned to the six junior and sophomore reporters, who broused about the school gathering material for their articles, while the editors alternately prepared editorials. The completed news was then proofread by Mrs. Kleist.

The weekly issues of "The Arrow Head" include such features as "Introducing," "Inquiring Reporter," "The Calendar," and "Did You See?" in addition to the sports events of the week and the popular ramblings.

The Tuesday afternoon meetings, the reporters who gathered in room 101, Friday, to finish their articles, and the editors' farewell parties, will all tend to make us look back on school news writing with pleasant memories.

STUDENT COUNCIL

As in preceding years our student government was based on the Student Council Constitution. Its purpose is to establish a deeper sense of cooperation between the faculty and the pupils, to promote a higher standard of honor, and to encourage a more democratic spirit in all student activities.

The principal activities were the regulation of corridor traffic and the supervision of the cafeteria at lunch time. The council sponsored the Red Cross activities; collected Christmas cards and forwarded them to charitable organizations for children; operated the Lost and Found Department; and continued the support of a war-orphan under the Foster Parent's Plan. This year Student Council sponsored the Thanksgiving Dance and was largely responsible for the organization of the Friday night Youth Center in S. H. S.

This organization, under the capable supervision of Mr. Manone, is becoming more important with each passing year and is a vital part of the school's citizenship training program.

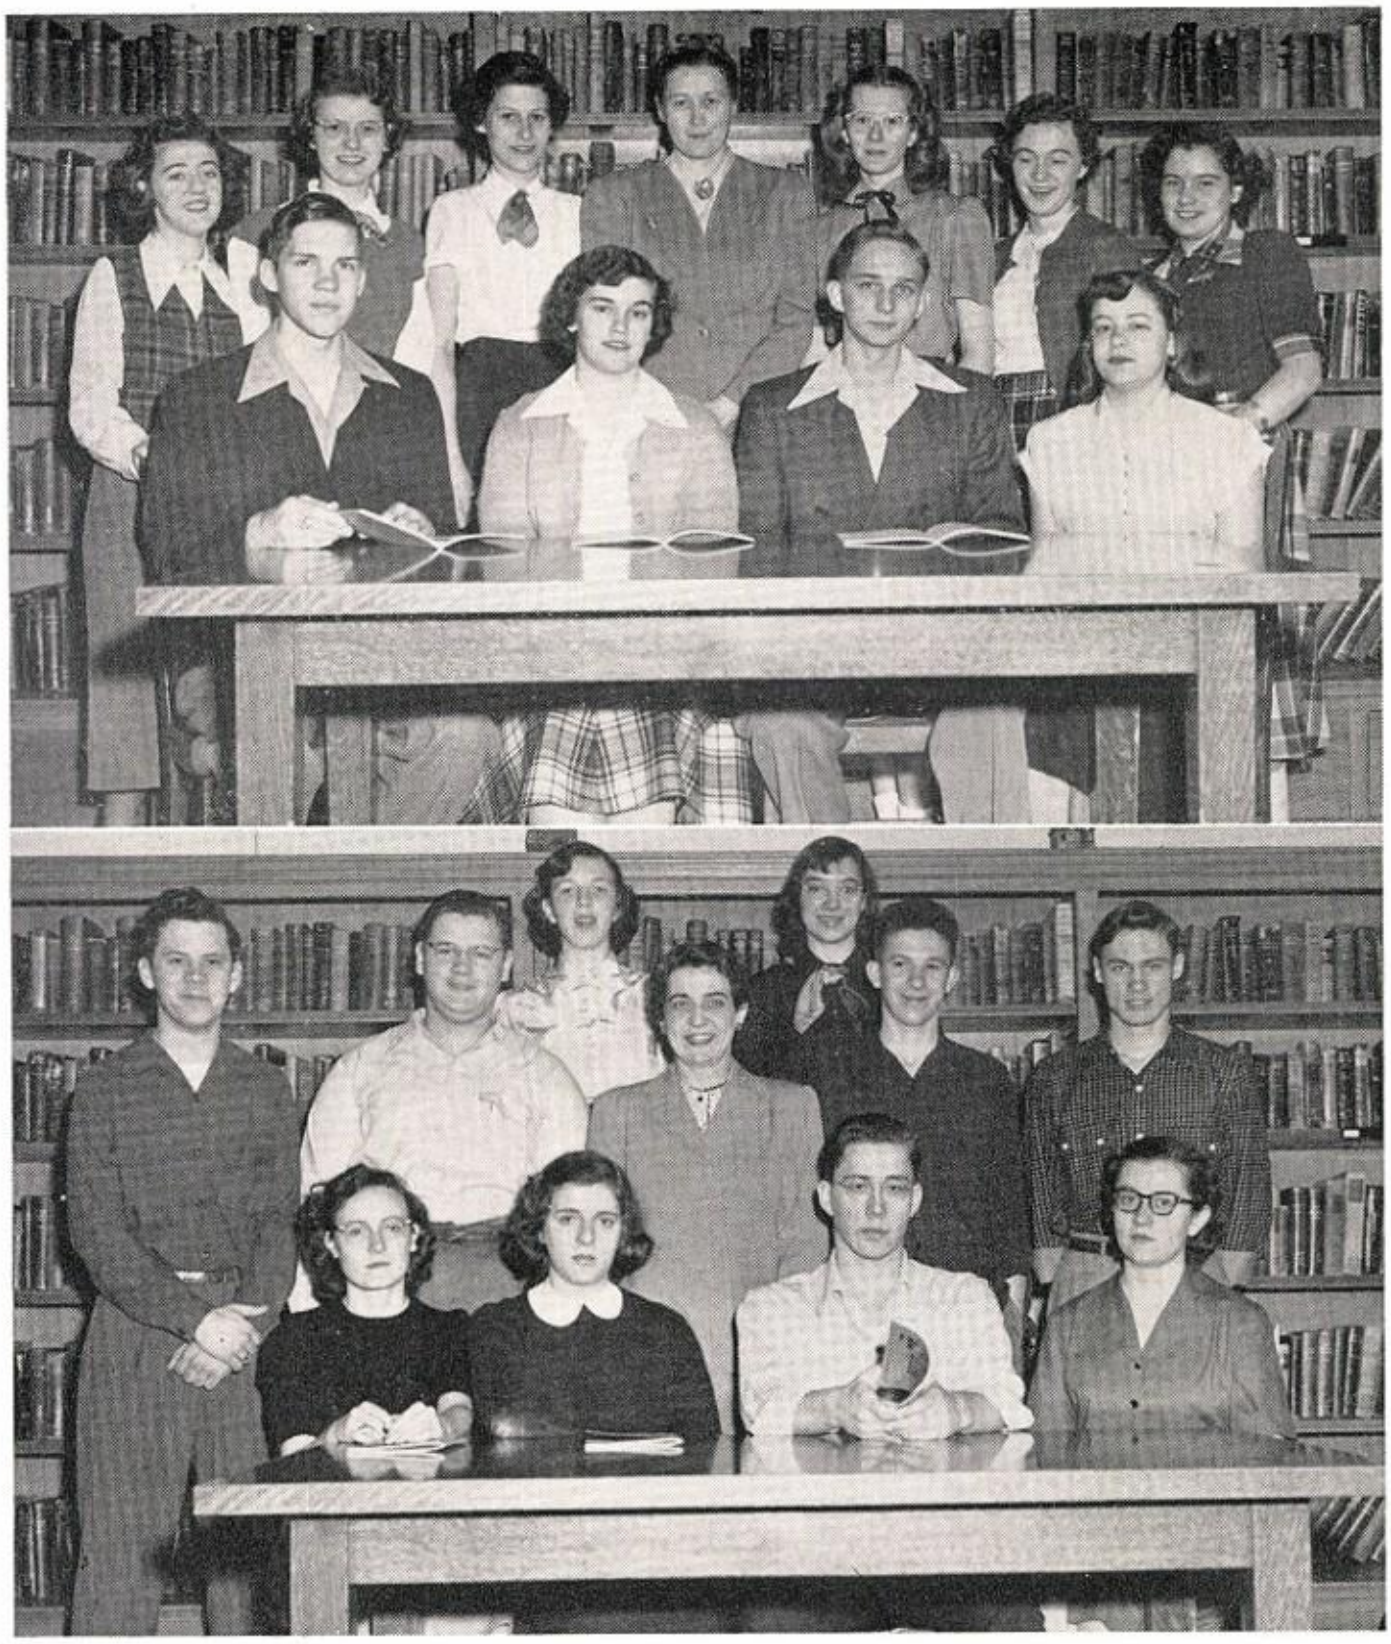
INDIAN ECHO



Our school magazine has enjoyed tremendous success since its revival two years ago. It offers every student of our high school an opportunity to contribute stories, poems, and original art work. Thus the English and art classes cooperate with the staff and the work is distributed among more of the students.

The Indian Echo contains many articles and stories of interest to graduates as well as to high school students. Some of the features of the magazine are: sports, puzzles, jokes, poetry, editorials, accounts of various student organizations, activities, articles on school problems, and alumni notes. The art work of the magazine supplies beauty and additional interest.

The sponsors of the magazine are Miss Weinert, Miss Fisher, Mr. Gazdick and Miss Treichler. Miss Weinert is general supervisor of the publication and helps the staff decide which articles to use. Miss Fisher assigns topics to her English classes which can be of use in the magazine and helps to correct the copy. The art work is supervised by Miss Treichler while Mr. Gazdick manages the printing. A group of faithful commercial students has charge of the business and distribution. Volunteer typists work busily to get the material in correct form for the linotypist.

The splendid cooperation of faculty, staff, and student body has produced a very worthwhile magazine.

Love is too Much Trouble

Joe Burke has been restricted from the Junior Prom and is flunking botany. He is drowning his sorrows in a dozen sodas when his brainy buddy, "Pinky" Hamilton, comes to the rescue and devises a plan whereby Joe can get to the dance. Their plot backfires when Monica Bates, a visiting high school senior, absorbs too much "atmosphere" and gets the fellows in trouble with their girl friends. When it appears that things can get no worse, Dr. Pillsy, the president of the college, and Miss Ross, the Dean of Women, come to investigate Toasty's "tea room" because too many students are going there instead of to classes and to the college dining room.

Shirley Bradford, the campus belle, and also Pinky's big moment, decides to teach Pinky a lesson so she tells him she can't go to the prom with him because she is going with a fellow from Harvard. Pinky's spirits drop even lower when he finds he's about to forfeit the two hundred dollars needed for the orchestra. He gets a brain storm and figures out a way to get rid of the man from Harvard and also retain the money.

This plot also miscarries and strange things happen to people in the Poison Pot. To top it off, Pinky learns that the Harvard man was just a figment of Shirley's imagination. By this time Dr. Pillsy is furious and calls the Board of Health.

Pinky and Joe get deeper and deeper into trouble. Dr. Pillsy has lost all his composure and almost all of his mind. He expels nearly everyone. At life's darkest hour Mrs. J. Worthington Bates appears and the nature of the picture takes a decided turn for the better. The romantic mix-up is ironed out to everyone's satisfaction and the play ends happily.

The Zoozah

The Updikes are a busy family. Wally is writing a play in collaboration with his pal, Brainstorm Harrison. Lois, the eldest, has entered a beauty contest and has already won the local competition which entitled her to compete in the Upper Valley contest. Mrs. Updike is endeavoring to secure a teaching position in the local schools while Penelope, the youngest of the tribe, is trying to live up to her nickname of Pesky.

Trouble begins when Lois comes under the influence of Hipsom Skidmore, an astrology enthusiast, who interprets life in terms of horoscopes. He convinces Lois that her stars are unfavorable and that she will never win the beauty contest. At the same time Brainstorm and Wally conceive a plan to capitalize on Lois's rise to stardom as Miss America and attempt to keep her in the competition. In spite of their arguments Lois remains convinced that Hippo's predictions are correct.

In desperation Wally and Brainstorm purchase the Zoozah, the epitome of good luck, hoping to counterbalance Hippo's influence. Overnight they find themselves up to their necks in hot water. In the first place the Zoozah won't stay put, but keeps cropping up at the most embarrassing moments. Wally is frantic as he tries to keep it hidden from his mother, who would not appreciate its existence at this moment. Moreover, Lois has to reorganize her plans to accommodate a new horoscope which Hippo has produced. In preparing the old one he has overlooked Sagittarius. All at once the police begin to take a very active interest in the activities of a certain Wallingford Updike, and, in the midst of this turmoil, the members of the Board of Education decide to investigate the private life of Mrs. Updike to see whether she will be a good influence on the young of the community.

For a while things look dark indeed, but suddenly the luck of the Zoozah begins to show itself, and, by the end of the performance, everything ends satisfactorily.

Senior Assembly

Perhaps the most outstanding example of student participation in our school can be found in the meetings of the Senior Literary Society, or as we know it, Senior Assembly. Every three weeks this organization, by enlisting the help of students from all grades in the senior high school, presents a program of various and diversified interests.

This organization's purpose is threefold. First, to acquaint our students with the methods of parliamentary procedure; second, to give our students a chance to perform before a large audience; and third, to inform and entertain our student body as a whole.

Each one of these purposes has been carried out by the programs which were presented this year. Certainly this organization plays a significant part in our school life.

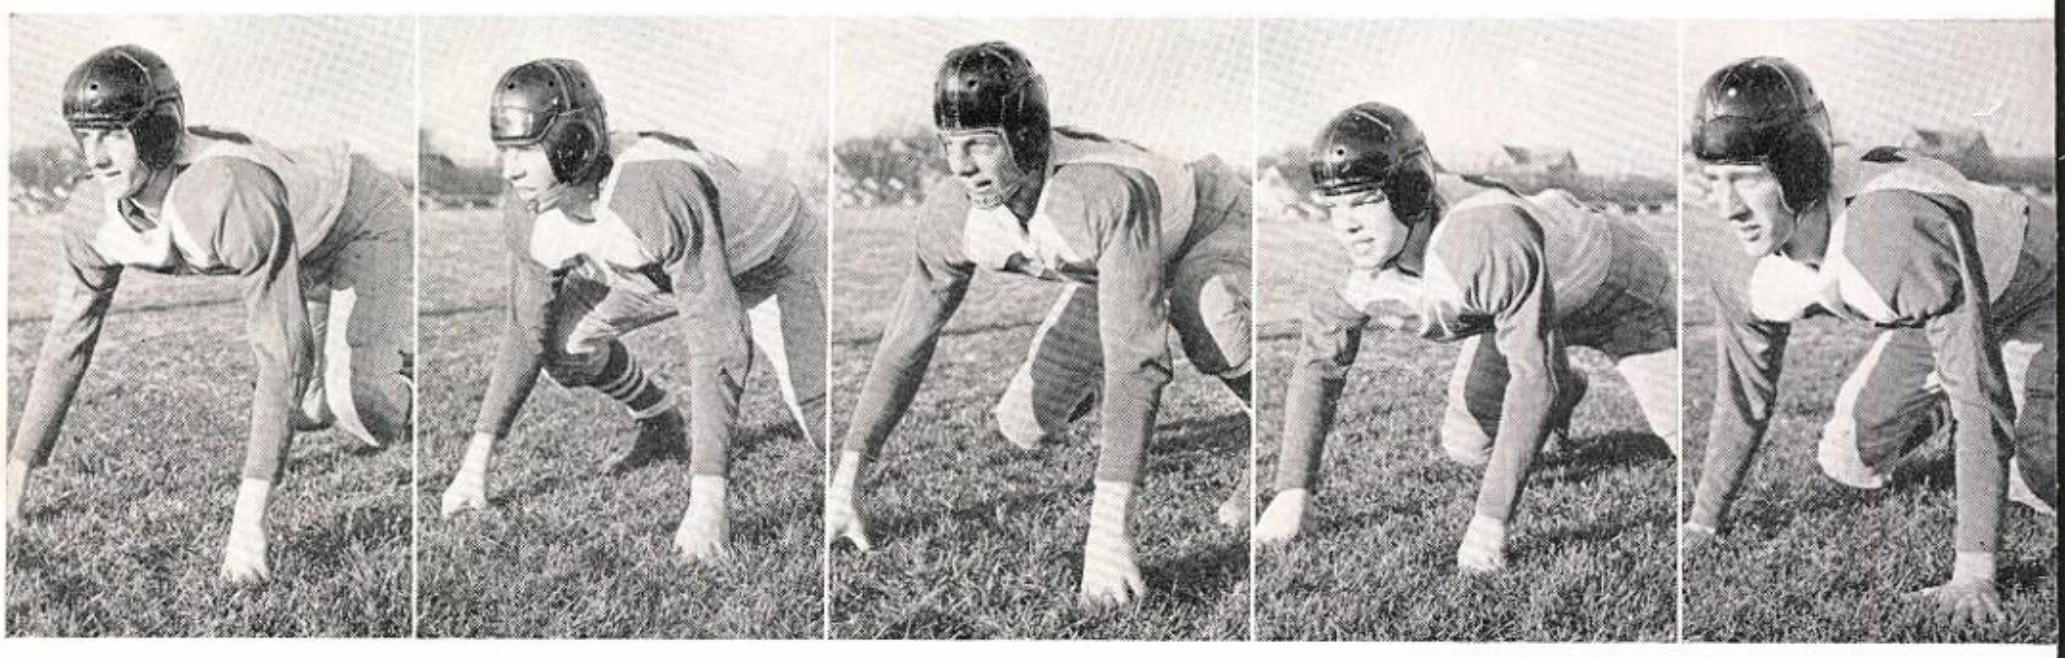
Sports



FOOTBALL

This year with the irresistable urge for football, more than forty fellows answered Coach Ford's call for manpower. Mr. Ford and his assistant, Mr. Patton, immediately started developing a potential winning team. The Big Red had eight returning lettermen along with a host of new blood which added a bright light to football in Souderton.

The Indians opened their season by playing host to the Jenkintown Drakes. The staunch, loyal fans of S. H. S. again turned out to support their team and they received quite a surprise as Souderton edged the visitors 19–13. The Big Red suffered a few losses after this game, but returned to the win column with victories over Doylestown and Hatboro. Although they dropped six games, the boys never lost their spirit and fight.

In a post-season game on Thanksgiving Day the Redskins met the local Warriors and emerged victorious by a 12–6 count. This may develop into an annual classic in the future.

Our thanks to Coach Ford and his assistant, Mr. Patton, for their untiring efforts, and we wish them the best of luck for the 1951 season.

Although substitutions were made quite freely, the following men were consistent starters:

HOCKEY

Although the 1949 hockey team did not win first place in the league, they deserve much credit for their fine sportsmanship and cooperation. Approximately fifty hockey enthusiasts reported for practice at the beginning of the season. This group was narrowed down to approximately twenty-five players ten of which were letter girls. It was not a season of wins for the team, but they managed to hold all opponents to a tie score except Landsale.

The girls owe much to their able coach, Miss White, who practiced diligently with them. The most spectacular game of the season was played with Quakertown. This was really a victory for Souderton in that we held Quakertown, who had won all previous games, to a tied score.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

This year, as in the past three years, the Souderton Indians appeared pennant bound, only to lose out after a torrid season of hustling basketball. Following a heartbreaking 43–41 loss at the hands of Springfield in the opener, the sharp shooting Indians took the next five in succession. This winning streak gave the Big Red a rightful berth in first place position. However, in the second half of the schedule, Souderton's hopes were dimmed as they lost to three teams that had previously been defeated.

Everyone who attended the Lansdale game will remember the terrific struggle which, in the first half, proved to be more of a football match than a basketball game. It seemed as though Fate were against the Indians that night, for, after leading throughout, they allowed Lansdale to take a two-point lead in the closing minutes of the game.

The fans, with the memory of the Lansdale encounter fresh in their minds, saw an even more heartbreaking defeat when the Big Red quintette opposed Ambler on our home court. In this contest the Indians had a three-point lead with only seconds remaining when a miraculous series of events climaxed by a post game foul conversion gave Ambler the decision 49–48.

First row: D. Trumbore; D. Alderfer; R. Frantz; W. Bentzen; H. Hallman.

The boys who did most of the battling for this year's team were Seniors Bob Dorn, Bob Landes, Bill Gotwals, Duck Landis, and Kenny Drace. Junior Ken Nase also played a prominent role.

The final record for Souderton was ten victories against eight defeats, a total of 753 points to the opponent's 718. Captain Dorn was high scorer for this team. He also won second place in the league's individual scoring, which placed him on the All Bux-Mont five.

We wish to extend the best of luck to Coach Eisenhart and his team, and hope that Souderton's long overdue basketball championship will finally arrive.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

After an unusually poor season in 1949, Souderton's Junior High School Basketball team returned to its usual winning stride.

Coach Maza's starting five, led by Captain Bruce Fenstermacher, carried the team into second place in the final standing of the Little Bux-Mont League.

After winning the first three games of the season it looked as if our papooses were championship bound, but they were defeated by Sell-Perk in an upset tussle 28–20 on the Steeler's court. Although they lost a tough game, they opened the second-half of the season by trouncing Lansdale 40–25 thus reassuring themselves that they were championship material. When the Sell-Perk aggregation came to Souderton for a rematch, the Red and White displayed their championship style by blackening the Steelers 41–24.

At the end of the season, Souderton traveled to Doylestown to play a team they had beaten earlier in the season. Since Doylestown had compiled an identical percentage record, this game would decide the championship. Both teams played fast, spirited ball and when the final buzzer sounded the scoreboard read Doylestown 28–Souderton 27.

The team ended a great season with six wins and two losses and compiled a total of 248 points to their opponents' 176 for the season. The success of the season is a reward to Mr. Maza for his hard work and we wish him the best of luck in '51.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

This year girls' basketball probably reached its highest point in the history of the sport at S. H. S., for the team was usually great and at times sensational. But in spite of the unprecedented popularity, the season was a disappointment. The Red and White lassies had two "off" games, one at each end of the season, thus wrecking their hopes for the title.

Looking at the season as a whole, one cannot fail to be impressed by the amazing point totals built up by the Souderton Maids in their games. Their amazing shooting never has been, and probably never will be, equaled.

After losing the opening game to Quakertown, the team recorded seven straight victories to tie for the championship. Among these victories was a 66–49 decision over their previous conqueror, Quakertown, and a 69–24 verdict over Lansdale. In this game they ran up the highest point total a Souderton sextet has ever recorded. But the breaks of the game were against them and they suffered a heartbreaking 40–39 defeat in the championship

CHEERLEADERS

School spirit is the spark needed to send a team to victory. The cheerleaders are that spark producing the pep and enthusiasm in our school. These five girls escort the athletic teams to every game, and lead the cheers that urge them to victory.

This year the junior and senior teams, in their bright red uniforms, combined and held a number of pep rallies to introduce new cheers and boost the morale of the student body.

A cheerleaders club was organized to practice and devise new cheers. A class was also conducted each morning to teach junior high students the techniques of cheering. Much time and hard work was expended in promoting school spirit. The friendliness and cooperation of our cheerleaders has always made a good impression for S. H. S. May this tradition always be maintained in the years to come.

JUNIOR HIGH FOOTBALL

Year after year Junior High School football is improving at Souderton, and the boys are gaining the much needed experience to make the grade for the varsity squad. While mastering the fundamentals the boys are also building for themselves strong minds, bodies, and spirits. This year Souderton's Junior High compiled a record of one win, two losses, and two tied. One of the ties was a result of a playoff game for third place with the Sell-Perk juniors.

This year's Junior High team was a spirited, aggressive group. They played hard football all the way with their hearts and muscles behind every block and tackle. Every game was an exciting contest and never were the papooses completely outplayed.

Coach Maza awarded seventeen Junior High letters to his boys, fifteen of whom are freshmen leaving only two lettermen returning for next season.

We hope there will be ample material available to build a successful team for the 1950 season.

Band Festival

The community of Souderton had the distinct honor of acting as host to the annual Southeastern District Band Festival held in the High School on January 12 to 14, 1950. A concert climaxed the three-day affair on Saturday evening. The project was sponsored by the Souderton–Telford Kiwanis Club in cooperation with the town people who opened their homes to the out-of-town members of the band.

Festivities commenced on Thursday morning when the visiting participants registered at the school before being taken to the homes of their respective hosts. The most undesirable event on the agenda—tryouts—was then held in the high school. Now began the long grind of practice. Rehearsals were held on Thursday afternoon and evening, Friday morning and afternoon. These sessions were quite informal and the fun the musicians had at rehearsals will long be remembered as one of the highlights of the festival.

On Friday evening the young musicians laid aside their instruments and went to the Telford Fire Hall to dance to the music of Ralph Moyer and his orchestra.

Back to work again on Saturday morning for the final rehearsal. Free passes were distributed to the band members for the afternoon show at Souderton's Broad Theater. In the evening a banquet was given for the band and its conductors in the High School cafeteria. The three-day festival was concluded on Saturday evening when the one hundred forty piece band gave its concert to more than one thousand music lovers in the school auditorium.

The guest conductor was the widely acclaimed and nationally known musician, Joseph E. Skornicka. He was selected because of his almost unparalleled success in working with children and young people in the field of music. He is a graduate of Milwaukee State Teachers College and Northwestern University and was appointed supervisor of band and wind instrument instruction in the Milwaukee Public Schools in 1927. This position he has held continuously since 1927 with the exception of four years as a Major in the U. S. Army.

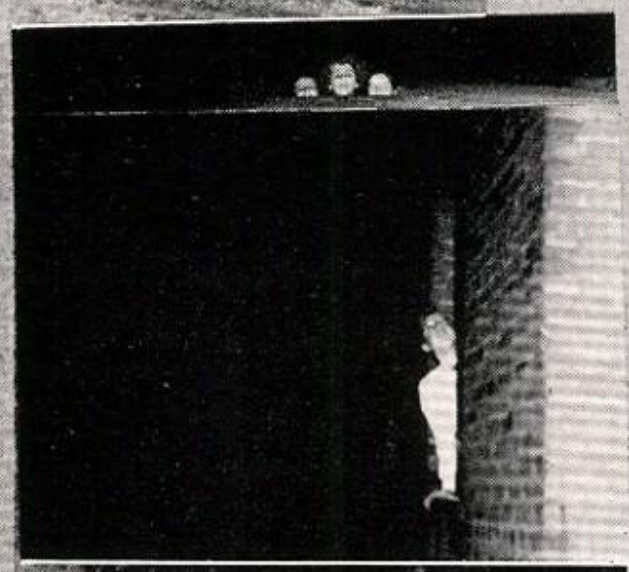
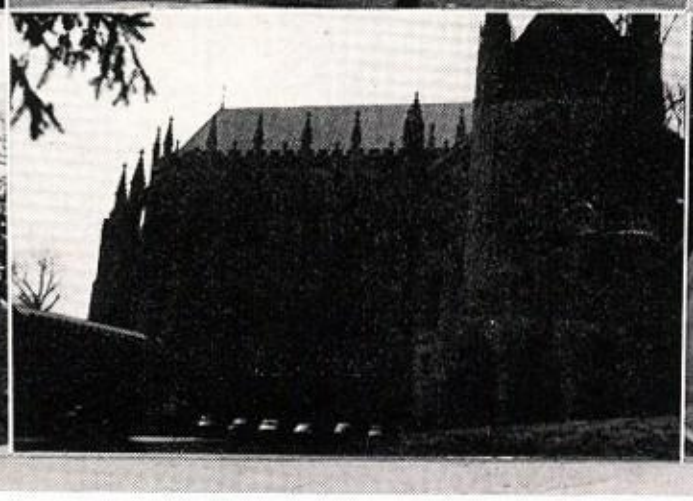
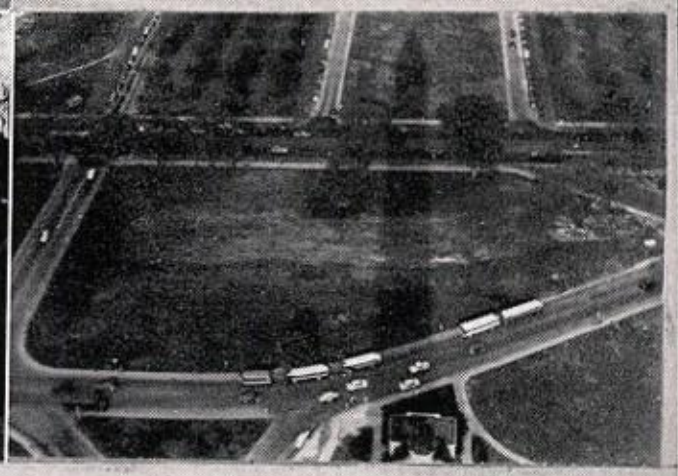
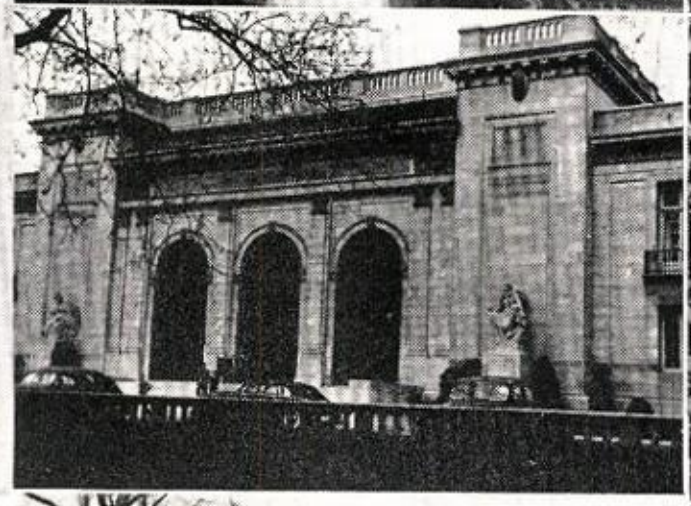
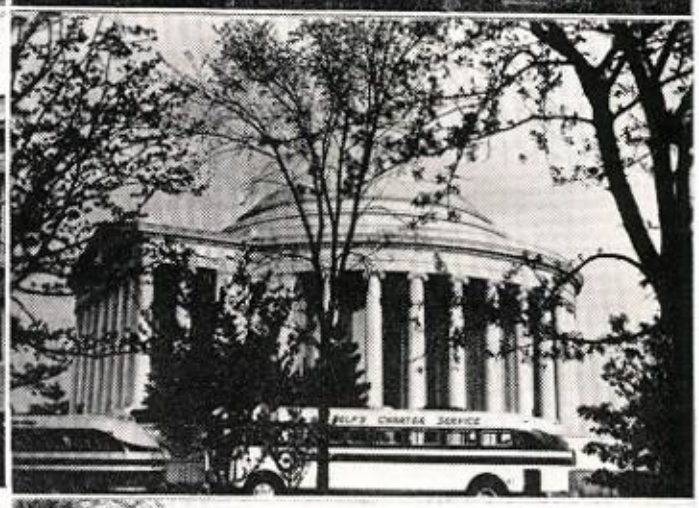
Our Washington

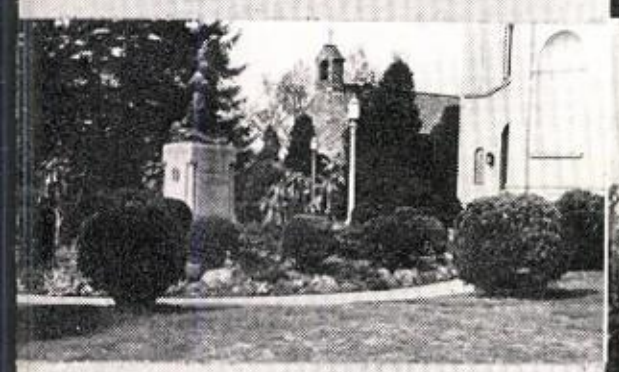


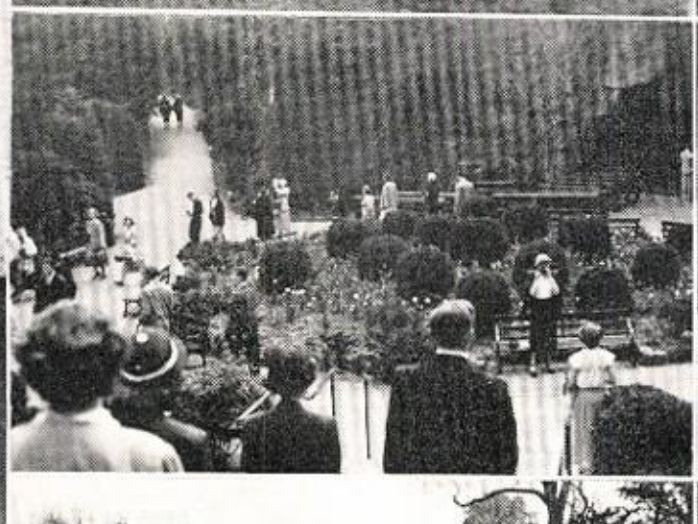


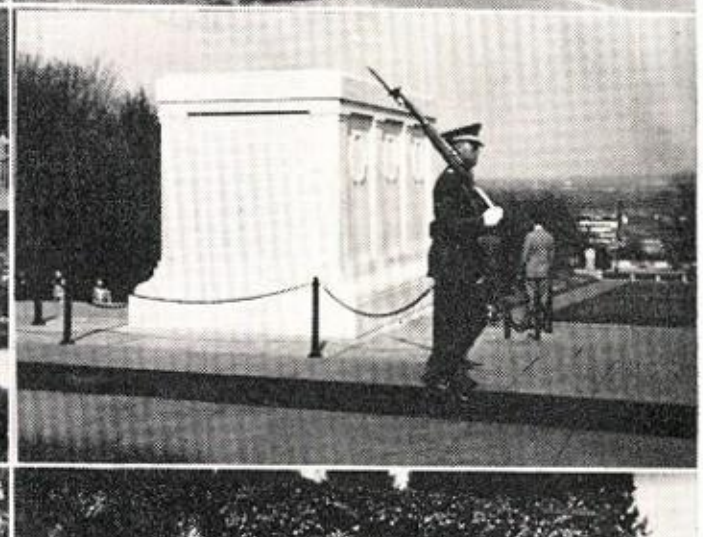


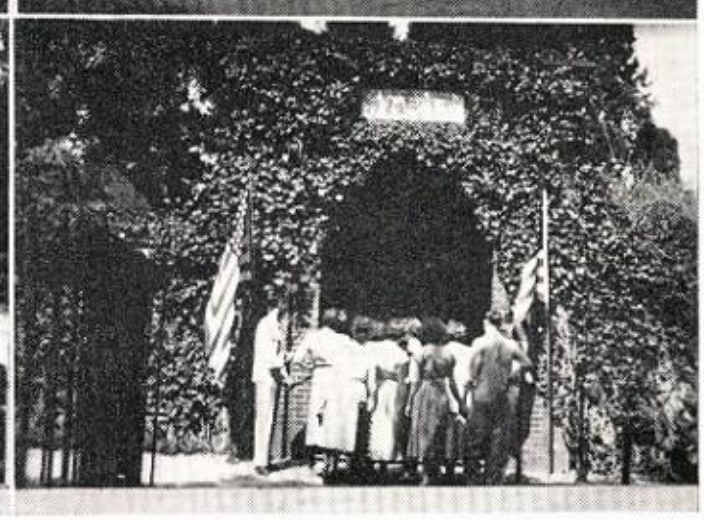












Nancy Kathleen Savacool

Nancy, who was a member of our class until the beginning of our Junior year, was certainly a loss to all who knew her. She was always ready to laugh and enjoy the fellowship of her companions. Active in school and church activities, she was at all times willing to do her part as best she could.

Although she had a great handicap, Nancy was continually doing something—a characteristic to be admired. We will never forget her fine spirit all during her illness and when she passed to her Heavenly home on March 24, 1949, we indeed lost a great link from our class chain.

May she forever rest in peace.
